

ClipArt

We now have, through Internet access, lots of legal clipart that you and your students may use all you wish. Yes, students may use this website also. We have a 30 simultaneous user license. Follow instructions below.

You, and students, may access this website from anywhere (school or home, for example) ANYTIME. I would like your feed-back!

Go to www.clipartforteachers.com

Click on "Member Login"

Type "dhindsley" for User Name.

Type "whiteface" for the password.

Click on "Sign In"

The screenshot shows the login page of the ClipArt for Teachers website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Home, Member Log-In, Member Log-Out, and Contact & Support. Below the navigation bar, there is a form for logging in. The form includes fields for User Name (containing 'dhindsley') and Password, a checkbox for 'Remember my user name', and a 'Sign In' button. Below the form, there are links for 'Click here if you forgot your user name and/or password' and 'If you are a new user, please click here to register for ClipArt for Teachers'. At the bottom of the page, there is a footer with links for HOME, JOIN, CONTACT, SOCIAL STUDIES, SCIENCE, LANGUAGE, MATH, GENERAL INTEREST, FREE ART, and SUGGESTIONS.

There are four Categories to search for ClipArt in:

- Social Studies
- Science
- Language Arts
- Math

The screenshot shows the main content area of the ClipArt for Teachers website. The page is titled 'Objective Oriented, Lesson Specific Clip Art' and includes a welcome message for 'dhindsley!'. The page is divided into four main sections: Social Studies, SCIENCE, LANGUAGE ARTS, and Math. Each section provides a brief description of the clipart available. The Math section is highlighted in red. At the bottom of the page, there is a footer with links for HOME, JOIN, CONTACT, SOCIAL STUDIES, SCIENCE, LANGUAGE, MATH, GENERAL INTEREST, FREE ART, and SUGGESTIONS.

This is one example (Math).

There are quite a few subcategories for you to search through.

Take a look and let me know how useful/convenient these are (or are not).

The screenshot shows the Math subcategory page of the ClipArt for Teachers website. The page is titled 'Math' and includes a list of subcategories: Manipulatives, measurement, time, money, and much more. The subcategories are listed in a grid format: Counters, Shapes, Real Numbers, Roman Numerals, Sequence, Money, Menu Art, Store Art, Measurement Weight, Measurement Time, Measurement Temperature, Measurement Speed and Distance, Measurement Liquid, Fractions, Geoboards, Geometry, Charts and Graphs, Math Tools, and Scientists. At the bottom of the page, there is a footer with links for HOME, JOIN, CONTACT, SOCIAL STUDIES, SCIENCE, LANGUAGE, MATH, GENERAL INTEREST, FREE ART, and SUGGESTIONS.